The probation officer believes that the offender has violated the following condition(s) of supervision:

Violation Number    Nature of Noncompliance

1

The offender has violated the supervision condition which states 'You shall not commit another federal, state, or local crime.'

On April 29, 2010, Key was arrested by Elizabeth Police and charged with drug loitering in violation of NJ Statute 2C:33-2.1C. According to the investigation report, dated April 29, 2010, Elizabeth Police Officers observed Key engage in a brief conversation with a black female, Melony Daniels, a known user of dangerous drugs, namely heroin, outside of Oakwood Plaza Complex, located at 400 Irvington Avenue. Police further observed Key hand Daniels a small item in exchange for U.S. currency. The officers, believing they had witnessed an illegal narcotics transaction, approached both individuals and identified themselves as police officers and placed Key under arrest. A pat-down search of Key revealed $185 in U.S. currency in his right front pants pocket, in separate folds, consistent with an individual selling controlled dangerous substances. Key was transported to Elizabeth Police Headquarters for processing and released on a $100 cash bail. Key appeared in Elizabeth Municipal Court on April 30, 2010, at which time, he was advised he would receive notification via U.S. Mail of his next court appearance.

The offender has violated the supervision condition which states 'You shall work regularly at a lawful occupation unless excused by the probation officer for schooling, training or other acceptable reasons.'

The offender has failed to maintain gainful employment since October 25, 2007, despite numerous efforts by the U.S. Probation Office.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
